"Finish what you started in me, God. Your love is eternal—don't quit on me now." Psalm 138:8, The Message

FEARFULLY AND WONDERFULLY MADE WHOLE

What a composition God created. Simple, yet complex. Why do some think we evolved from a monkey? Because they only see in part. Now how we were created to function is often quite different from who we ultimately become. I believe it is important to get acquainted with how we were created and how well we can function. Let's explore our composition to better understand our make-up from the inside out. Using a world atlas and maps as a metaphor we find that mankind has twelve distinct maps. The number twelve in the Hebrew language represents authority. Realized, it denotes rulership—just where one's authority lies. Each map can and should be governed: one as king, most are servants, and a few are slaves. The one you yield to has the right of way for expression that's makes you, you. Over the years, we change. We never stay the same. I recall a story of a billionaire that stated he changed nine times; each time his wife adapted to his changes. That's why we must learn to perfect our map reading skills so you understand which part influences us the most because we always impact others' lives. Map reading should not only pursue breakthrough, but also prove it. We must know ourselves intimately so we can direct change and not feel imposed upon. It's been said, if you are not getting better everyday, you are automatically getting worse. The Holy Spirits helps us mirror change; now we can go from glory to glory no matter how challenging or uncomfortable. 1) The knower is the precision-directing inner man. It is commonly known as the conscience. 2) The transporter is the body. It has been built to last at least 120 years. As infrastructure, it requires oxygen, water supply, nutrition, supplements, detoxification, fitness, and rest. 3) The reproducer is your subconscious mind. It has the power to scan and replicate what you imagine. 4) The thinker is your mind. It analyzes, discerns, makes judgments, mediates. It remembers the past and imagines the future. 5) The feeler is your emotions. It makes appealing and/or arousing expressions. It stimulates as a motor to display either thought-provoking responses or quick reactions. 6) The chooser is your will. It selects not necessarily what you want, like, need, or even what is best, but what you have. 7) The perceiver is your attitude. Thoughts and feelings jointly demonstrated create your viewpoint, not what's right or wrong, true or false, good or bad. When you have a good attitude the thoughts and feelings are in harmony; the two collide when you display a bad attitude. 8) The believer is your heart. The center of your core beliefs and convictions that ignites the impossible realm to makes things possible. 9) The carver is your mouth. It is the informant of the heart; it cuts out what the heart shapes. It can talk expectation or experience. 10) The craver is your appetite. It is never satisfied but hungers and thirsts for attention, recognition, validation, power, and to be served. It can be compared to the skinless flesh that has a continuous drive for comfort. In an uncontrolled state, it manifests excessive behaviors. 11) The enforcer is your instincts. It fights for survival as well as reproduction of its own kind. It imposes its own rules to correct anything it deems disorderly. It has unadvertised rules that tries to impose on others for the purpose of overpowering them. 12) The arranger is your disposition. It can change a whole environment by setting a tangible tone or mood through scenes, sounds, or smells for others to receive an intended message. ## YOU CAN'T ADD TO PERFECTION

The Scriptures accounts for at least three things that happened before the foundation of the world. First, God finished his work, (Hebrews 4:3). Secondly, the Lamb was slain, (Revelation 13:8). And thirdly we were chosen in Christ. (Ephesians 1:4) God commended his own work, the creation of man. His comments were, "very good". Envisioning mankind doing greater works than accomplished during Jesus' earthly ministry, God planned for mankind's reinvention to realize perfection. Complete transformation from a living soul to a life-giving spirit. Living in the best state possible on earth. Please know the original design for mankind was made in the image of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit; and there absolutely were no defects. However, the new design increased our competency rate against failure. Failure is therefore opposite from success, but never equal to success. We kept on using a typewriter and white-out until the advent of the computer. Riding a horse was okay until we could ride on an airplane. So there nothing wrong with the first Adam before the Fall; the Second Adam, i.e., Jesus Christ just made everything perfect after his resurrection. He shows us how to model him successfully so we can do greater works on earth for him and through him.

Thought for Transformation

Average is an enemy. God never made anyone average. Average can be defined as mediocre. If you envision yourself as middle of the road than you will never be heads above the rest. You are above only and not beneath ever. See yourself as God's masterpiece, not a mud pie. God created Adam with more than just dust and water. God used an authentic ingredient, his very own breath, which made him a living soul. However, when Jesus Christ (aka the Second Adam) finished his work on Calvary that placed the finishing touch for all believers—transformed into a life-giving spirit. What Jesus Christ did superseded what God did in the Garden of Eden. This is indeed the old thing passing away to give way to the new thing. Restoration does not give you what you lost, but what God willed originally. So say what God sees in you, then you will see over and over again what you said over and over. I am God's masterpiece. I am God's design. I am reserved for the King of king's pleasure.
